PEPSIN is the chief element or great digostive principle of the Gastric Julco. It is the unaterial used by farmers in making Cheese called RENNET. A few grains of Dr. Hughion's preparation of Pepsin, taken by dyspeptic persons just before or after eating, digests the contents of the Stamach, thereby affording immoniate relief. Call and get a treatise on this disease, (gratis) together with a complete description of the process and physiology of digestion.

SARSAPARILLA

IT is put up in full quart bottles, and contains the strength of six times as much pure Honduras Sarsa parilla as any similar preparation in America. Price one dollar per hottla, or six bottles for five dollars.

It has been a well established fact for years past, the Sarsaparilia, when sure and properly prepared, was the only true panacea for all diseases originating from an impure stata of the blood, the use of mercury, intoxicating drinks, evil babits in youth, barrenness, dec. We boldly assert that JOHN BULL'S FLUID EXTRACT OF SARSAP ARILLA is the only preparation before the public that is prepared on atrictly scientific principles, and of uniform strength. The Sarsaparilla is purchased without regard to price, and avery pound, before being used, is subject to the strictest chemical testa, and its sentimeness ascertained before being used.

But's Sarsaparilla also contains the virtues of several other valuable medical roots, together forming the best compound, and producing the greatest curative ag at in the known mortal. This medicine, when used according to directions, well care without fail.

READI READII READIII The truly wonderful and remarkable cures that have come under our immediate observation have more than convinced us that Doctor Bull is a great man, and tha his Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla is the most valuable combination of vegetahe extracts that the science of chemistry has yet produced. All success to the Doctor in his new enterprise, say wa Louisville Courier. We agree with our neighbor of the Courier, that Dr. Bull is a great man, and his Sarsaparilla a greater medicine; and we are fully convinced that the Doctor, with his Sarsaparilla, will reate a far more entousia-the excitement east than Barnum did with Jenny Lind. We would not have our readers to enderstand uses classing the Doctor and his Sarsaparilla with Barnum and Jenny lind, because a livel special shert dollar for a bottle of Bui's Sarsaparilla will get its equivalent; and we have BY OSBORNE & GREEN.

FRENCH AND AMERICAN DEMOCRACY .- These two classes have radical sentiments in common in some respects. They are opposed to mon archy and privileged orders. Their object is to benefit the massea and produce an equality of individual rights. Agreeing thus far in their designs and purposes, one might expect a concurrence as to the means to accomplish these

THE RAILROAD CASE DECIDED .- The opinion of the Court of Appeals in the case of Slack and others vs. the Maysville and Lexington Railroad Company, was delivered at Frankfort on Tuesday by Judge Marshall. The main question in the case was whether the act of the General Assembly authorizing a subscription of stock in said company, by Meson county, upon the approval of a vote of her citizens, is constitutional or not. The court decided that the act was not contrary to the old constitution, under which it was passed, and that it was not abrogated by anything in the new constitution. Whether similar acts passed under the present constitution are valid or not, is not decided.

Judge Hise dissented, and will prepare an exposition of his views.

Washigton, Jan. 28. SENATE, -Mr. Cars presented resolutions from Detroit asking the interposition of Government to effect a release of Smith O'Brien, upon the presenting of which Mr. Cass made a very impressive speech. Messrs. Berrien, Butler and Hale, also par ticipated in the debate.

House.-Was engaged in Committee of the whole upon the Mexican indemnity bill. Mr. Disney made some severe remarks npon the course of Mr. Webster in the matter.

From St. Louis.

ST. Louis, Jan. 28. The Salt river mail reached Independence on Saturday The delay in its arrival was caused by frequent anow storms. Snow was on the ground near ten inches deep. A band of Pawnees encountered the carriers and ordered them back, which they re fused do. They aoon came in sight of a village and were ohliged to remain ten days under pretext that 60 they were fighting huffaloes, they have been unusually unsuccessful in hunting. The Indians and the Sloux had killed four of their number. The news is unin.

SCUDDING UNDER BARE POLES. "I was quite young when he was in-camp of Cupid. He was one of those my companions used often to ridicule him; rough and honest spirits often met with in and I confess I was frequently tempted his gallant profession, innocent as an infant of almost every thing save high integrity and indomitable bravery. He was restrained by my mother, who used to say fo me in a low voice, "He is so amiable!" And then it nearly fifty years old, and his toils were over, when Master Dan Cupid brought him acquainted with a widow Wadman, in whose eve he began to detect some-only among "guns, and drums, and wounds," and love was a thing that lived in his memory, just as he remembered that the young man who is now my husband, had made application for my hand. I was not surprised at this, for I had already suspected once reading a visionary story book, called that he regarded me with an eye of affec-

But alas! o'er this calm evening of the old General's day, a deal of perplexity was doomed to fall, and he soon found himself in troubled waters, the depth of which he could be could be continued to visit me. depth of which he could by no means understand. He floundered about like a cased rat under a number and such another.

"He continued to visit me, encouraged by my parents and cheered by my smiles.

My other admirers one by one left me, caged rat under a pump—and such another melancholy fish out of water never before swallowed the bait, hook and all, the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble," so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble," so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble, "so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble," so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble, "so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble," so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble, "so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble," so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble, "so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble," so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble, "so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble," so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble, "so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble," so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble, "so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble," so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the swallowed the bait, hook and all, ble, "so often, that it seemed to me to be the swallowed the bait." of the angling god of love. The poor General. We must give him a name or handsome." I loved him, and took him as we can't tell the story, and the best name for such a story is Uncle Toby. Poor my husband. General Uncle Toby debated abstractedly about his new position, and never had siege or campaign given to him such siege or campaign given to him such can I help loving him?—"He is so amiperplexity before.

At length, however, the blunt honesty of his disposition rose uppermost among the conflicting plans, and his course was chosen. At school he once studied "Othello's defence" to recite at an exhibition, but made a great failure; and he now recollected there was something in this defence" very much like what he wanted to say. He got the book immediately, found the passage, clapped on his hat with a determined air, and passed off to the widow Wadman's, with Shakspeare under his

"You!" said Uncle Toby, flourishing his sword arm in the air, and assuming a military attitude of defiance, as if he expected an assult from the widow imme-

"Will you kill me if I marry you?" said the widow with a merry twinkle of the eye. "No madam!" replied Uncle Toby, in a most serious and deprecating tone, as if to assure her that such an idea had never entered his head.

"Well, then, I guess I'll marry you," said the widow. "Thank you, ma'am," said Uncle Toby

"but one thing I'm bound to tell you of, madam-I wear a wig!" The widow started, remained silent a moment, and then went into a longer louder and merrier laugh than she had in dulged in before, at the end of which she drew her seat nearer to the General; gravely laid her hand on his head, gentle lifted his wig off and placed it on the ta-

General Uncle Toby had never known fear in hot battle, but he now felt a most decisive inclination to run away. The widow laughed again; as though she never would stop, and the General was about to clap his hat upon his denuded head, and bolt, when the facetious lady placed her hand upon his arm and detained him. She then deliberately raised her other hand to her head, with a sort of military precision, executed a rapid manœuvre with her five fingers, pulled off her whole head of fine glossy hair, and placing it upon the table by the side of the General's remained seated, with ludicrous gravity, in front of her accepted lover, quite

As may be expected, Uncle Toby now laughed with the widow, and they soon grew so merry over the affair that the maid servant peeped through the keyhole at the noise, and saw the old couple dancing a jig and bobbing their bald pates at each other like a pair of Chinese mandarins. So the two very shortly laid "their heads together" upon the pillow of matrimony-scudding under base polls.

HE IS SO AMIABLE.

A beautiful girl, gay, lively and agreeable, was wedded to a man of clumsy figure, coarse features, and a stupid physiongnomy. A kind friend said to her one day—"My dear Julia, how came you to marry that man?"

"The question is a natural one My in Berlin, and bis relation to the marrost relation of three months in any of the above named branchea (two lessons a week), $18.

"The question is a natural one. My husband, I confess, is not graceful in his appearance, nor attractive in his conversation. But he is so amiable! And goodness, although less fascinating than beauty or wit, will please equally at least, and it is certainly more durable. We often see objects which appear repulsive at first, but if we see them every day, we not only view them without aversion, but with feelings of attachment. The impression which goodness makes on the heart is gradual; but it remains forever. Listen. and I will tell you how I came to marry

There was a fine old general once, who, having spent most of his life in the field of Mars, knew very little about the manner, uncouth in his appearance, and the 'Arabian nights' Entertainment, when hardly knew how to act. When I recola boy.

Well, the General had settled down into an amiable, gentlemanly old fellow, living alone with comfortable wealth around him, and having little to do, save now and then entertain an old comrade in arms, which companionship afforded an opportunity for him "to fight his battles of this color this color again." But also for this color again. But also for this color again, again to the felt interested in him; but when I recalled the many excellent traits in his character, and dwelt on his benevolent and good actions, I dismissed the idea of ban-

"Since then, I have not only been able!"

There is something exceedingly touch ed in this love which beauty entertains for goodness, and there is no longer a doubt that some women love from a feeling of benevolence, or tender compassion, regulated by reason. Such an affection will know no change. It has a firm basis, and will endure through life.

LOUISVILLE, Kr.

The undersumed, builders and practical mechanics of the city of Louisville, have examined the work manufactured in the extensive Planeing Mill of Messas,
J. N. Breeden & Co., of this city, and with much pleasure beartestimony to the excellence of the materials wased, and the work done by them. Their hnilders' warerooms contain a very large, assort meut of Doors. Window Sash, and Venetian Shutters, which we have carefully examined, and do not hesitate to say that they will bear favorable comparison with any work of the kind that we have ever seen. Tae perfect machinery used by these gentlemen will make as good work as any done by hand.

It is often asked, how can a medicine so simple in its nature perform such wonderful cures? We answer, this Tincture is composed entirely of vegetables from nature's garden, which give strength and tone to the stomach—creating a heaftily appetite, which the patient is at-therty to indulge, then it is life finds its way to every member throughout the cutira system. The liver then whose functions are vital and of every importance to the system, commences its nealthy operations, which are: first, to clean itself; next, it opens the porce, threws off all impurity of shoot and food, clears off that gloom and wretched feeling which ever attends a morbid liver. The bowels now become regulated, and healthy action takes piace—every nerve receiving its wonted life; the whole system is invigorated, remarking the truly desirable and comfortable.
